Boris Grundl has achieved a lightning career as a top manager and management expert – and this despite having suffered a heavy blow of fate. This stirring conference speaker is one of Europe's elite trainers. The secret of his success: he has brought the art of managing himself and others to the highest level. More than 200 top executive managers believe in the top leadership coach in a wheelchair. He is a much sought-after speaker, author and guest lecturer at many Universities. His references confirm his unique position amongst the top speakers. No-one is credited with more authenticity and profoundness. His ability to move others, to touch and inspire them, is unique. He speaks in straightforward terms but always with a sense of humour and always managing to make his point precisely.
